Committees Listed
The committees for the Beauty Revue are as follows:

COLLEGE LAUNDRY REMODELED

The Econ-O-Wash, formerly the College Laundry, has been newly remodeled for the convenience of the students here at the college.

The new name tells you what it does—washing done at an economy of money and time.

The Econ-O-Wash is open 24 hours a day so that you can go in and do your laundry any time of the day or night. The cost is very small, only 25c per wash load and 10c per load for drying will run the new coin-operated machines.

If you can't do your own wash, or just don't feel like it, then drop it by and let them do it. Your clothes will be fluff-dried if you prefer, your shorts will be finished to your satisfaction.

Any clothes to be cleaned? Well, drop it off at the Econ-O-Wash laundry and your clothes will be Sanitone Dry Cleaned.

72 Ga. Southern College Seniors Are Student Teaching This Quarter

Seventy-two senior education majors from Georgia Southern College are doing their student teaching in 14 South Georgia high schools and 7 elementary schools during the 1960 winter quarter.

Fifty-three students are teaching in Coffee County High School, Statesboro High School, Vidalia High School, Jenkins County High School (Millen), Savannah High School, Claxton High School, Southeast Bulloch High School (Brooklet), Metter High School, Bradwell Institute (Hinesville), Glynn Academy (Brunswick), Glennville High School, Screven County High School (Sylvania), Moultrie High School, and the Marvin Pittman High School on the college campus.

The remaining students are being accommodated by the Marvin Pittman Elementary School (Statesboro), Jacob G. Smith Elementary School (Savannah), Sallie Zetterower Elementary School (Statesboro), Claxton Elementary School, Juliette Low Elementary School (Savannah), Sylvania Elementary School, and Mattie Lively Elementary School (Statesboro). One full quarter of teaching in a classroom situation is required of each senior toward the completion of the B.S. in education degree requirements.

The student teachers giving their names, home towns, and major subjects are as follows: Coffee County High School: Tony Adams, Leary, Physical Education; Janet Price, Brunswick, English; and Diane Pulliam, Sylvestor, social science. Bradwell Institute: Jackie Gamadani, Atlanta, English; Betty Russell, Thomson, social science; and Ted Tucker, Statesboro, math.

Claxton High: Norman Broadwell, Roswell, social studies; Connie Lee Griffin, Sylvania, English; and Arlen Hester, Sycamore business.

Glennville High School: Carolyn Higgenbotham, Nahunta, English; and William Mallard, Sardis, business.

Glynn Academy: Charlie Griffin, Waycross, music.

Symphony From Atlanta To Give Concert Sunday

The Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Henry Sopkin, will play in Statesboro on Sunday afternoon, January 24, at 3:30 p.m. in McCroan Auditorium at Georgia Southern College.

Admission is by membership card of the Statesboro Concert Association.

The Atlanta Symphony is the only major orchestra in the Southeast between Washington and New Orleans. (A major orchestra is defined as one which has annual expenditures in excess of $175,000.) As such, it considers the entire South and not just the metropolitan area of Atlanta as its area of service. Concerts have been given by the orchestra in each of the seven southeastern states, and the forthcoming concert in McCroan Auditorium is one of many which the Atlanta Symphony will give on tour during the 1959-1960 season.

The Atlanta Symphony is only fourteen years old, having been founded in 1945 as the Atlanta Youth Symphony. Its first conductor was Henry Sopkin, who has remained since that time to guide and plan the phenomenal growth of the orchestra. Prior to coming to Atlanta Sopkin was widely known for his work with student orchestras and by the many musical works he has edited and arranged. He still pursues these activities, but the increasing demands of his own Atlanta Symphony have greatly limited his participation in national orchestral clinics and competitions. Nevertheless, he attends several festivals each year during the winter season, and spends his summers teaching orchestral methods at LOOKING EXULTANT and victorious, Zeke Ward is shown above being crowned by Ann Fulmer as Ga. Southern's "Ugliest Man" on campus at the annual "Ugly Man Ball" on Saturday, January 23. This contest is conducted annually by the Veterans Club. Zeke is following in a long line of distinguished "Ugly Men" at GSC such as Dan Stipe and Harry Cowart.

Three Big Events To Highlight The Homecoming Weekend Next Week

Homecoming will be held at Georgia Southern College the weekend of January 28, 29, and 30. "Around the Clock at GSC" is the theme for this year's annual affair. Highlighting the weekend will be the Beauty Revue on Friday evening, the parade of floats on Saturday afternoon, and the basketball game with Tampa University on Saturday night.

About 16 clubs have entered floats in the parade. The Alumni Association will give $10.00 to any club or campus organization with which to help build a float. The three requirements for the floats in the parade are as follows: (1) The float must face forward. (2) The mobile unit must be decorated, covered, or hidden in some way. (3) The sponsoring club name shall be on each side of the float.

A suggestion from the parade committee is that each float should feature a beauty riding contestant on the float.

The clubs which have entered floats are as follows: The Baptist Student Union, the Future Business Leaders of America, the Home Economics Club, French and German Clubs, the Association for Childhood Education, and the Kappa Delta Epsilon and Kappa Delta Kappa. Also the Wesley Foundation, Science Club, Student Georgia Education Association, Gamma Sigma Upsilon, the Junior Class, Eta Rho Epsilon, T Club, and the Freshmen Class.

Parade Marshall will be Dr. Burton J. Bogitsh, assistant pro-

Zeke Ward from Augusta was voted the "Ugliest Man" on campus last Saturday night at the annual "Ugly Man Ball," sponsored by the Vets Club.

Students have been voting by the penny a vote system for the preceding week for the candidate of their choice. Voting continued until the night of the dance, giving them the opportunity to support their favorite candidate right up to counting time.

The Gym was appropriately decorated with a beatnik motif to fit a beatnik theme. Many of the guests, dressed as beatniks, were seated on cushions on the floor. They were served coffee "beatnik style."

Floor Show Presented
The floor show featured Zeke Ward in a portrayal of a "beatnik" poet. Carol Kinard, a sophomore from Dublin, presented an acrobatic dance. Very popular with the students present at the dance was a trio consisting of Maurice Herndon, Pavo; Billy Fordham, Dublin; and Richard McGee, Augusta, who sang several popular songs in the style of the Kingston Trio.

The highlight of the ball was the crowning of the "1960 Ugly Man" by Ann Fulmer, a Statesboro girl who was second runner-up in the Miss GSC contest last year. Wndy Hodges, Statesboro, sponsored by the Home Economics Club, was first runner-up. Joe Reeves, Dearing, representing Phi Mu Alpha, was third runner-up.

Many Prizes Awarded
The winners received many prizes contributed by numerous businessmen in Statesboro. A $10.00 prize was awarded to the Modern Dance Club for sponsoring the winner.

Others in the contest included: Royce Conner, Hawkinsville, sponsored by Cone Hall; Carlton Hendrix, Claxton, represented Masquers; and Hubert Manning, Patterson, sponsored by the Science Club.

Guidance Meet To Convene Here On January 28

Approximately four hundred guidance counselors, school administrators, and other school personnel connected with the guidance program in South Georgia high school will convene on campus Thursday, January 28 for an in-service conference sponsored jointly by Georgia Southern College and the State Department of Education, according to an announcement made this week by Dr. Zach Henderson, president. School personnel from the first, second, sixth, and eighth congressional districts have been invited to attend the conference which will initiate a state-wide in-service effort by the State Department to improve and extend the guidance services in the state's public schools.

Guest speakers at the conference include Dr. Titus Singletary, Associate professor of Chatham County Schools, and Dr. Ben Bohnhorst, of the Division of Curriculum Development of the State Department of Education. Arrangements for the conference are under the direction of Dr. J. D. Park, Director of Teacher Education at GSC and Mrs. Edna Tolbert, consultant in Guidance and Testing with the State Department. The kickoff speeches are "What Is a Guidance Program?" and "What is the Place of Testing in a Guidance Program?"

Attendees at the conference will examine the roles of various staff members in a school system in relation to the pupil-guidance program, the function the certification of school of testing, policies governing counselors and other items of interest at this time. Pupil guidance in the high school has been accented in recent months by the provisions of funds through the National Defense Act of 1958 to support efforts to locate the country's most capable pupils and guide them into scientific and technological careers. Additional emphasis has been given by recent action by the State Board of Education and the Georgia Accrediting Commission requiring the addition of guidance-counseling services to the programs of all high schools.

Pennington Gets Doctorate Degree

Tully Sanford Pennington, associate professor of biology at Georgia Southern College, will be awarded the Doctor of Education degree from Florida State University on January 30.

Mr. Pennington's dissertation subject is "Factors which Affect High School Senior's Interest in Science."

A native of Wilkinson County, Georgia, Mr. Pennington received his Bachelor of Science degree from Cornell University.

The doctor of education degree culminates seven years of further study by Mr. Pennington.

Bloodmobile To Be On Campus On January 27

The Savannah Redcross Bloodmobile will be on campus Wednesday, January 27, 1960, to participate in the annual Blood Drive sponsored by the Student Council. The Bloodmobile will be on campus from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. in the Student Center.

Dr. Zolton Farkas is the faculty sponsor for this drive and Mary McGregor, Girard, is the chairman for the Student Council.

This year, prizes are being offered to the club who has the greatest number of its members donate blood. The first prize is for $15.00 and second prize is $5.00. Permission blanks have been issued to all the presidents of the clubs and these must be signed by a parent or guardian of the student who wishes to give blood. The age of 18. There blanks should be returned to Mary McGregor as soon as possible after the Christmas holidays. Those students who give blood may give the name of ever yororganization they belong to ad the final results will be worked on a percentage basis. Registered nurses and two qualified physicians will be in charge of the proceedings. This blood costs nothing to the person who needs it, but it does cost the Red Cross eight dollars by the time it reaches the receiver.

Community Concerts Are For You To Enjoy

How many college students actually realize the many benefits they receive by attending college? Students should grow physically, socially, emotionally, and culturally during their four years attendance at such an institution.

Sunday the Community Concert Association of Statesboro will present the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Maestro Henry Sopkin, in concert at McCroan Auditorium. This organization is one of the finest orchestras in this section of the country and every student on this campus should take this opportunity to enrich the cultural part of his life. Members of the Community Concert Series of Statesboro spend many hours in scheduling and securing excellent performers for the people of Statesboro and the students of Georgia Southern College.

At the beginning of every quarter students pay an activity fee which includes tickets to all college functions, basketball games and the Community Concerts.

The programs that are given here are planned so that everyone can understand and appreciate every concert. The association sponsors symphony orchestras, folk singers, choral ensembles, and soloists. In each of the concerts the performing group or soloist has selected a program that will be interesting to the average person.

While you are still a student and have the chance to enrich your life in all areas it would behoove you to stop and ask yourself if you have taken advantage of the opportunities placed before you.

When the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra is here on the Georgia Southern College campus this coming Sunday, it is hoped that each student will support his school, the orchestra and the Community Concert Association by attending the concert on Sunday afternoon in McCroan Auditorium.

Homecoming Will Be A Success If . . .

Facing each and every one of us in the next week is a responsibility which we must all fulfill if this 1960 Homecoming weekend is to be the greatest yet.

"What can I do? My little bit of work wouldn't help." You're wrong! If everyone took this attitude nothing would ever get done and we'd have a delightful flop!

Many of the returning alumni remember this college as the place where so many of their wonderful memories actually happened. This weekend means so much to them! If they are to enjoy themselves, we, as present students and future alumni, must do the very best we are able. Half the fun is getting out and working and then see the result you have accomplished.

The Beauty Revue will be held on Friday evening, January 29. This year the first "Miss Georgia Southern College" will be chosen on that night. The Art Club is, as usual, sponsoring this Revue and they are involved with tre-

The New March of Dimes Needs Your Support

The theme selected for the New March of Dimes is a simple, direct statement: Prevent Crippling Diseases! Yet is says a number of things not always apparent to the average American.

Most of us are barely conscious of the crippled child or adult. We see a boy dragging along a braced leg trying to keep up with his playmates. The little girl on crutches or the man in a wheel chair are usually taken for granted as an unchanging way of life. There are many more handicapped thousands we never see at all living out their lives in hospitals and institutions.

Every year a quarter of a million infants—685 a day—are born with birth defects. At least half of them face a lifetime of serious chronic illness and disability.

Here is the size of the problem:

Do You Have A Book Overdue?

Last quarter there was a tremendous problem in the library about the over-due books. Some persons would check out books, keep them out until they were long overdue, and even disregard notices sent out by the library.

The books have been placed in the library for the students' use if they so desire, but not for the personal use of one student who thinks he is privileged and can keep a book out longer than anyone else.

Have you ever thought how much extra time and record keeping are consumed if one book is kept out an extra day longer than the date stamped in the back of the book? Somehow it turns out that it is the same old crowd which continues to check out books and forgets about returning them until they are way over due.

When these inconsiderate readers manage to bring these books back to the library they complain about having to pay a fine. Well, there is only one way to avoid paying a fine!

If you are one of these students who checks out books and forgets about them until you see your name on the overdue list, then make a little extra effort to remind yourself about them on the date they are due.

"ANOTHER THING—DON'T BE TARDY—HE HAS A WAY OF EMBARRASSING YOU WHEN YOU COME IN LATE."

-- Moore Or Less --

By WILLIS MOORE

Anyway, it makes a big hit.

At first, an automobile accident made a pretty good news story. A driver would lose control of his auto and hurt to the side of the road into a sand bed. The police and newspaper men would hear about the accident and rush out—leap onto their bicycles and speed to the scene . . . with whistles screaming. The next day a tremendous newspaper story would be spread across the front page—TRAGIC AUTO ACCIDENT. And the story would tell how Mr. Somebody's car plumed off the road, shook up the driver, and ran over Mrs. Somebody Else's nash-turshum bed killing two of her prize nash-turshum plants. That's all it took to make headlines.

But now-a-days everybody has cars (several) and everybody has accidents. Since it takes news to have a newspaper, we probably would not have newspapers today were it not for this little incident. One rainy afternoon, Mrs. Wright was on nerve's edge—and she could not watch "Edge of Night" on TV. In desperation she yelled to the boys, "Oh go fly a kite!" That's all it took. Wilbur and Orville went running outside—once out of the house, they saw Mama Wright's washing machine motor and at once they had an idea.

Some while later Wilbur came running into the house yelling "Mama—Orville won't let me fly the kite!" Ma Wright got up to yell to Orville to be kind to Wilbur—just as she stepped out of the front door, Orville buzzed the house—in Wilbur's kite propelled by Mama's washing machine motor. Papers didn't record what happened then, but it is what has happened later that has kept the presses rolling.

With this incident—a revival occurred in the newspaper rack—et—ahem—business. A pilot lands a light plane—just as he gets out a tire goes flat—the reporters hear of it—then a big newspaper story develops . . . a real banner headline rates if anyone is killed. A big newspaper story is being sent all over while the casualty lies smeared over the country-side. (That is, if he smears easily.)

So, if you want to make news, get into some beaten old aircraft and have a wreck—a news story is certain.

Our Word for the Week: Shelly Berman says, "Flying is the safest way to Fly."

Always Around

By JACK SMOOT

I would like to dedicate this article to a group of people who are among some of the busiest workers on campus. The News-monger.

Webster states that "a News-monger" is one who gathers and retails news. He is in real life one who carries home the story—in plain words, a busybody.

Need a watchdog girls? This kat fits the bill. She will, while you're away for the weekend, make sure you know all that your beau did in your absence.

In a "Bull" session, this Paul Pry is your best and loyalist friend, a guardian angel, until you leave the room, then watch out, you've had it.

Keeping secrets — ? That's another matter. This person is your best pal, loyal, and true. You can tell this ally anything with complete confidence that before you leave the area—your secret will be all over the campus—even with addition and alterations to make the secret sound better.

News-monger, Paul Pry, gossip or busybody all mean the same thing, a person who is willing to make life miserable for others. With sly remarks and insinuations that fiend preys on others, slowly spinning a web in which someday he will hang himself. With the act of hanging himself justice will once more reign supreme thus eliminating a nuisance from the campus of Georgia Southern College.

Savannah Tour

The city of Savannah, Georgia, is widely known for its many historical landmarks from America's past. This interesting town is visited by thousands of tourists annually.

Last Saturday the Home Economics Club on campus sponsored a tour to four of Savannah's historical sites and I was one of 10 students that took this trip.

We first visited the Birthplace of Juliette Gordon Lowe, founder of the Girl Scouts of America. The tour through the home was guided by Daisy Gordon Lawrence, niece to Juliette Low and the first registered girl scout.

Each year girl scouts from all over the world plan special trips to Savannah in order to see Juliette Low's birthplace. This memorial, taking three years to be completed, 1819-1821, was designed by William Jay, a young English architect.

The historic beginning of Girl Scouting in the United States was made with a telephone call: "Come right over, Nina, I've got something for the girls of Savannah, and all America, and all the world, and we are going to start it tonight."

In this way Juliette Low, announced the beginning of the American Girl Scout movement in March of 1912. Soon after Juliette Low made this telephone call to Savannah, a group of girls met in March 12, 1912 from Miss Nina Pope's School and organized the first Girl Guide company. For four years Juliette Low personally financed Girl Scouting, traveling over the country and sharing her ideas with others.

There were 5,000 Girl Scouts by the end of 1915 and the organization had a national council, a constitution, by-laws, and a charter. Juliette Gordon Low was its first president. She died on January 18, 1927, fifteen years after she had begun one of the most outstanding movements ever established. The next stop on our tour was the Owen - Thomas House Museum, a branch of the Telfair Academy of Arts and Sciences. This House, willed to the Telfair Academy by Miss Margaret G. Thomas in 1951, is referred to by the American Institute of Architects as "one of the outstandingly beautiful examples of old American architecture." Also designed by the English architect, William Jay, the house was built for Richard Richardson, a prosperous Savannah merchant. In 1825, it was here that Marquis de Lafayette was a guest of the city of Savannah.

In 1830, the house was purchased by Hon. George W. Owens, Mayor of Savannah, prominent lawyer, and a member of Congress. The house remained in the possession of that family until the death of his granddaughter, Miss Margaret G. Thomas.

A visit to the Telfair Academy of Arts and Sciences was the third stop on our tour. The earliest art museum in the southeast, it was established in 1875. The main portion of the building was designed by William Jay and was the mansion of the Telfair family of Georgia.

Permanent collections in the museum include paintings, sculpture, prints, drawings, furniture, chrysalis, silver porcelains, textiles and interior woodwork from old Savannah homes. This three story museum contains 14 exhibition galleries.

To complete our tour we had dinner at the historical Pirates' House. This landmark, established in 1759, was an inn for the seamen. Hanging on the restaurant walls today in the Captain's room, the Treasure Room, and the Pirates' Den are framed pages from an early and extremely rare edition of Treasure Island. Robert Louis Stevenson mentions Savannah many times in this book. According to tradition Pirate Flint, who originally buried the treasure on Treasure Island, died in an upstairs room of the Pirates' House.

Revue Program Cover Designed By Ackerman

The cover of the Beauty Revue was designed by Laurie Ackerman, a senior industrial arts major from Savannah. The Beauty Revue will be given on Friday night, January 29, at 8 p.m., in McCroan Auditorium.

The members of the Art 305 class, Lettering and Poster Design, submitted drawings, as a class project, for the cover. Then the members of the class and the Art Club voted for the best design.

Ed McLeskey, also a member of the class and an industrial arts major from Atlanta, will make the negatives and plates in the industrial arts building as a class demonstration and print the programs for the Beauty Revue.

Miller's Highlights

By CLYDE MILLER

One-third of the way through the season, it is clear that no rookie in any sport has ever reached the smashing success that Philadelphia's 7-foot-pluss Wilt Chamberlain presently enjoys in professional basketball. From the very first, he has scored more points per game and pulled down more rebounds than any other player in the league. His defensive skill, like Bill Russell's, has forced rival teams to pass up easy shots, repeatedly because of a well justified fear that Wilt might block them.

Players defending against him are nearly always in danger of fouling out of games because the great effort required to keep up with Chamberlain's drives them to undisciplined maneuvers. Wilt's remarkable stamina enables him to play the full 48 minutes, without substitution, whenever the Warriors need him. And he is bound to improve. Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain's presence is the principal reason why National Basketball Association attendance has increased almost 25 per cent.

Chamberlain has averaged 38.7 points a game this year. It seems the Cincinnati Royals are his favorite team to play against. Because in three games against the Royals, Wilt has played a total of 120 minutes and scored 121 points for an average of 40.3 points per game. The St. Louis Hawks have held Wilt to his lowest averages (27.7) because two tall, strong centers alternate against him. Coach Ed Macauley of the Hawks does not believe in "special" tactics. "After all," he says, "how do you pitch to Williams, Musial, and Aaron? You just do your best."

Eagles Lose To Presbyterian By A Slim Margin

Georgia Southern College staged a valiant second half comeback here Friday night only to see Presbyterian College pull out an 80-76 victory. The home team trailed by as much as 22 points in the first half, but began to hit in the second half as they scorched the nets for 51 points.

Bob Stratton, 61 Presbyterian senior forward, led all the scorers with 34 points. He scored 34 points in the first half and accounted for Presbyterian's first 13 points.

Chester Curry, GSC scoring ace, committed three fouls in the first three minutes of play. He started the second half but picked up his fourth foul in the first minute and finished the night with a total of two points.

Eddie Owens paced the GSC scorers with 17 points. He was joined in double figures by Whitey Verstraete with 14, Patton with 11, and Lewis and Burau with 10 each.

This was the second loss of the year for GSC against seven wins.

Eagles Win Over Newberry With A 98-67 Victory

Georgia Southern College threw up a rugged team defense and got red-hot shooting from its guard tandem in rolling to a surprisingly easy basketball 98-67 victory over Newberry Thursday night.

It was the seventh victory against a lone defeat for the Eagles, playing for the first time under their new nickname.

Newberry jumped out front 7-2, in the early stages but then Southern guards Chester Curry and J. E. (Go-Go) Rowe caught fire. The pair, who tallied 18 points each, led an assault that outscored Newberry by 34-5 and when nine minutes remained on the first-half clock the Eagles had a 36-12 bulge.

They were never in trouble after that, using their half-court press to advantage and saving things pretty much their own way under the boards.

Whitey Verstraete, usually the Eagles' scoring leader, was held to seven points, but he was otherwise engaged. Verstraete led all rebounders with 18 to spark a 63-36 team domination in this phase.

Carl Short, with 30 points, led Newberry and took individual scoring honors.

Shooting-wise, the Eagles hit 42 per cent of their shots from the field (37 for 88) to Newberry's 36 per cent (21 for 59).

Connie Lewis, the Eagles' 6-5 sophomore forward from Millen, was injured in the second half, getting a bad cut over his eye when he dived for a free ball.

GSC Eagles Are Victorious Over Tampa, 77 - 75

Georgia Southern College, led by three players, who scored in the 20-point range, overcame a 41-33 Tampa halftime lead to win a 77-75 basketball victory Tuesday night.

The victory was the Eagles' ninth against two losses. They return to Statesboro to play Jacksonville, Fla., University Thursday night.

Chester Curry tallied 24 points, Connie Lewis 23 and Whitey Verstraete 20 to lead the Eagles' in their uphill fight which didn't begin to show results until the second half had only six and one half minutes remaining.

At that point, Verstraete hit on a jump shot to put the Eagles ahead to stay at 62-61—this after a struggle in which the Tampans led several times by as many as ten points.

Southern Eagles Win Over Rollins College 70 - 62

Georgia Southern College raced to a quick 9-0 lead and went on to a 70-62 victory over Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla., Monday night.

Pacing the victory for the Georgia Southern Eagles was Connie Lewis with 16 points and 14 rebounds, two more rebounds than teammate Whitey Verstraete who collected 12. Chester Curry bagged 21 points to pace the scoring parade and Verstraete added 11.

The victory was Georgia Southern's eighth against two defeats.

Rollins played ball control basketball the first half and took only 16 shots, connecting on 10 of them. However, with about ten minutes left in the second half Rollins started using a zone press in an attempt to trim the score and had it cut to five two times.

Flute Recital To Be Performed By Thelma Mallard

Thelma Mallard, a music education major from Statesboro, will present her senior flute recital at Georgia Southern College on Sunday, January 31, at 3 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Music Building on the college campus.

The program will include: "Concert No. 2 in D Major," by Mozart with Cadenzes by Barrere; "Sonta No. 2 by Handel; "Dance Des Mirlitons" from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite," "Fantasia by Faure; "Synrinx" by Debussy; and "Poem" by Griffes.

Dr. Daniel Hooley, associate professor of music at Georgia Southern College will accompany Miss Mallard on the piano and Johnny Hathcock of Atlanta will perform a bass solo entitled, "I Judge Thee Not" by Schumann.

Miss Mallard is a member of Kappa Delta Epsilon, president of Sigma Alpha Iota music fraternity for women, secretary of the Band Planning Board, drum majorette, president of the Majorettes Club and a columnist on the George-Anne staff on campus.

She has played with the Savannah Symphony Orchestra and received the Statesboro Music Club Award during her senior year in high school.

Miss Mallard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cap Mallard of Statesboro.

STUDENT COUNCIL SPONSORS DRIVES

The Student Council has been sponsoring several special drives for the "March of Dimes."

At a recent Friday night movie $28.00 was collected as donations from the students. Also a collection was taken up at the GSC-Stetson Basketball game. A total amount of $32.25 was collected.

On Saturday, January 23, the Student Council will set up a March of Dimes block in downtown Statesboro. Many of our students will be participating and helping to collect $400.00, the Student Council's goal for that day.

CONTEST WINNERS

Five people tied with a 14-6 prediction in the GSC Basketball Contest in the December 4, 1959 issue of the George-Anne. Each of the following persons will receive $1.00: Norman Broadwell, Billy Bice, Jimmy Kennedy, Virginia Kennedy, and Ellen Agerton. In the December 14, 1959 GSC Basketball Contest, Doris Goswick won $5.00 with a 16-7 prediction. This is the third time that Goswick has won.

BOYS INTRAMURALS

On January 18, the Intramural basketball program began. There was a real good turnout to support the teams. As usual the season started with thrills and close games.

The Bears "A" team raced to a 51-38 victory over the wildcats "A" team. Big Charles Smith led the winners with 17 points and Ronald Starling had 14 for the losers. The wildcat "B" team defeated the Bear "B" team 47-45 in the overtime. Fred Higgenbotham of the wildcats shared scoring honors with Carl Highsmith of the Bears with 12 points each.

The Tigers "A" team won by a 49-47 score over the Bobcats "A" team. The winners were led by Gene Nevils with 12 and Sidney Brown with 11. The losers were led by Phil Clark with 17 points.

The Bobcat "B" team won over the Tiger "B" team 37-32. Jock Pye was high for the winners with 16 and Billy Fordum was high for the losers with 11.

GIRLS INTRAMURALS

In the opening intramural basketball game the Bluebirds defeated the Yellow Jackets 27 to 26. Genevieve Strickland dropped in 17 points to lead the Bluebirds in scoring. Barbara Barton of the Yellow Jackets lead both teams in scoring with 20 points.

Wylene Findley lead the Cardinals to victory and both teams in scoring with 30 points. The Cardinals defeated the Toppers 45 to 21. Glenda Eskew was high scorer for the Toppers with 12 points.

The Eagles defeated the Rebels 31 to 28. Velinda Purcell of the Eagles lead both teams with 26 points. Delores Moore and Diane Brannen both had 10 points each for the Rebels. The Falcons defeated the

"We both like fishing." This was the reply of Miss Dorothy Wiggins and Miss Muriel Bryant when asked about their favorite pastime. This is only one of the similar interests of the two new nurses on the campus of GSC.

When her wish to become a doctor seemed to be impossible, Miss Wiggins decided to do the next best thing and become a nurse. After graduating from Statesboro High School, Miss Wiggins worked in Dr. Lee's Clinic in Millen, Georgia for a year. She then started working at the Bulloch County Hospital.

Hawks 27 to 25. Betty Hardage scored 15 for the Falcons and Myrtle Dixon scored 10 for the Hawks. Betty Hand played a fine defensive game for the Falcons along with Shearer Shaw.

Miss Bryant was inspired to become a nurse by her best friend. Before coming to GSC she worked for two years at Dr. Lee's Clinic in Millen, Georgia and she worked for nine years at the Bulloch County Hospital where she was in charge of the Recovery Room. She has many interests including dancing, reading, sports, and she also enjoys ironing, and washing but she doesn't like to cook.

Both Miss Bryant and Miss Wiggins feel that nursing is a rewarding career and their greatest happiness comes from seeing a patient recover.

Do You Think for Yourself?

(BUZZ THIS QUIZ AND SEE WHERE YOU LAND!*)

"A little learning is a dangerous thing" means (A) it's better to leave your mind alone; (B) people who act on half-knowledge often make mistakes; (C) beware of sophomores.

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐

"Never look a gift horse in the mouth" is good advice because (A) he'll bite; (B) even if his teeth show he's old, what can you do about it? (C) there's nothing in there anyway.

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐

Assuming the starting salary is the same, would you rather have (A) a job with an assured income for life, but with no chance to increase it? (B) a job where you'll always be paid according to your abilities? (C) a job where you have to advance rapidly or be fired?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐

"The finer the filter strands, the finer the filter action" is a way of saying (A) don't use chicken wire in a window screen; (B) Viceroy gives you finest filter action because it has the finest filter strands; (C) the finer the filters, the finer the smoking.

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐

When you depend on judgment, not chance, in your choice of cigarettes, you're apt to be a Viceroy smoker. You will have found out that Viceroy gives you the best filtering of any cigarette, for a taste you can really enjoy. A thinking man's filter. A smoking man's taste. That's Viceroy!

*If you checked (C) on three out of four of these questions, you're fairly astute. But if you checked (B)—you think for yourself!
